

Packing Advice/Disclaimer

Shipment Reference.....

Dear Sirs,

It is the policy of Redhead Freight Ltd, to carry all cargo in a safe and secure manner, to ensure that your products reach your customers in good condition. In our long experience there are some types of cargo and shipment types which are more prone to damage than others, and we believe that we should draw our customer's attention to these issues, prior to shipment, to create the opportunity to avoid or minimise problems .We believe that that your shipment appears to fall into one of the following categories , and as such we are unable to accept liability for damage or loss caused solely as a result the specific hazard or predisposition to such loss or damage. This disclaimer does not exclude liability for loss or damage caused by other factors within the scope of our Terms & Conditions of Carriage.

1. Glass, Ceramics, Stone, Marble in any form or any similar material
2. Furniture of any type unless proven to be packed to the highest standards
3. Personal effects unless proven to be professionally packed and crated
